John Wayne

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) John Wayne has been in the motion picture business more than 30 years and has appeared in some 200 films. But now, as he stars in Howard Hawks' "El Dorado," he is as enthusiastic as he ever was.

He is always there, when he's needed, with his lines memorized. He shows the other actors little tricks—how to fall, for example. He kids around with the cast and crew. And he seems to look and act as well as ever.

"I feel fine," he says. Part of one lung was removed in an operation for cancer a little more than a year ago. "You know, we only use 80 per cent of the capacity of our lungs anyhow, so maybe I'm down to 75 per cent now."

"I think the best thing for me was to do that picture—"The Sons of Katie Elder"—a few months after the operation. We did that in Durango, Mexico—at an elevation of 8,500 feet. It was good for me, that experience."

WAYNE, WITH ALL THE PICTURES he's done, believes that he knows how the audience wants to see him.

"The audience," he says, "wants to see a manly man." And so he is careful about the parts he chooses. He thinks he can place himself in the minds of his fans and figure out if they would or would not like to see him in certain parts.

"Many people say," Wayne says, "that I've only played one part, but that's not true. I've played many different kinds of parts, but there is one thing that is always the same. The character I play must live by a code."

"It's all right to surprise the audience, but you shouldn't try to fool them. People see me on the screen and they know they won't be fooled—they have a head start in understanding the character and they know a little about what to expect." He points to Robert Montgomery as one actor who fooled the public—in "Night Must Fall"—by playing a madman, after they had come to expect him to be something entirely different.

"He won an Oscar for it," Wayne says, "but he lost a career."

WAYNE SAYS THAT HE'LL PLAY HEAVIES—as he did in "Red River"—as long as the heavy lives by a code which is, to the audience, understandable. He'd never play a madman, however.

"I'd be a heavy any time," he says, "as long as I was only mean and not petty or small. That's the difference."

This theory has evolved slowly, through trial and error. At first, he says, he wondered if he'd make it in movies.

"When I was young, I used to see these sharp guys—guys snapping their fingers, making wisecracks, with their shoes shined so nicely—and I'd think I'd never get anywhere in this business. But I think I had one thing going for me—the audience could identify with me."

PEOPLE OFTEN WONDER if another John Wayne will ever come along. Wayne himself thinks there are plenty of promising younger actors.

"That kid Chuck Connors," he says, "is good, and he'd be even better in movies where they took more time. And you couldn't want more of a personality than Steve McQueen has."

Wayne has no thought of stepping down, or even slowing down. Activity agrees with him. But nowadays he knows what he wants, and he holds out for it.

"When you're young," he says, "and you do that, they call you a man of principles. But when you get older, then they say you're opinionated and cantankerous. Well, I'm opinionated as hell these days."

THREE DOWN, ONE TO GO, GIRLS—Marriage of George Harrison, known as "the quiet Beatle," and model Patti Boyd, shown above, leaves only one of the famous British foursome at marital liberty—Paul McCartney.

SPOTTED—Arriving in London, actress Ursula Andress is spots all over, but it's a furrier's delight rather than a doctor's dilemma. The statuesque film beauty bundled up in leopard coat and boots against a cold snap.

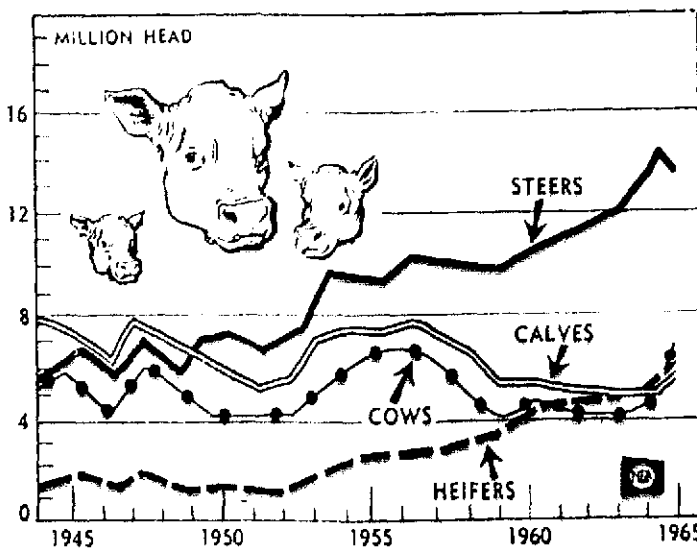

Sleek lines and the comfort of stretch fabrics put fashion squarely on the ski slopes. Decorative stitching is featured on the functional ski parka (left). The flat surface nylon shell is Daeron-insulated. Twenty-eight inches long, it has two flap pockets and matching silk stitching on the body and collar. Slim, trim ski suit (right) is in stretch fabric of wool, Helanca and nylon. The stitched seaming at the shoulders gives tapered shaping. Both these designs by Her McGregor come in several colors.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "It should be an interesting experience," said Marlon Brando, an expression of doubt appearing on his classic features.

The actor was speaking of his next film venture, "The Countess from Hong Kong." It promises to be one of the most noteworthy of recent movies, inasmuch as he will costar with Sophia Loren and both will be directed by Charles Chaplin.

The odd combination of talents has caused wonderment in the film world, and the feeling is shared by Brando.

Has the script been written? "Well, yes," said Brando hesitantly. "That is, he sent me one. But then he sent a message later telling me to disregard the previous script as he was writing an entirely new one."

Why is Brando doing it, film? "Because Chaplin asked me," he explained. "When a man of his stature in the industry writes a script for you, you can hardly refuse. Why he should think of me for a comedy, I haven't the faintest idea. But he said I was the only one who could play it."

Brando added with a grin: "I and Sean Connery, I guess. I understand Chaplin also had Connery on the hook, in case I didn't come through."

The deal for "The Countess from Hong Kong" resulted from the labors of Jay Kanter, long-time Brando agent and friend. Now a top executive of MCA, Kanter recently assumed control of the company's European film unit. He sounded out Chaplin, who disclosed he had been writing a new comedy for two years.

Kanter arranged a summit meeting between Brando and Chaplin in London. It was the first time Brando had met the comedy master, and they apparently got along well. Brando has met his costar Miss Loren, only briefly at a long-ago Hollywood event.

The actor seemed a bit mystified by the whole project. I asked if he could briefly summarize the plot.

"No," he replied. "I play an American, a man from an aristocratic family, well-dressed but wan, tired — not jaded, but archly bemused by the world at large. He is married and is trying for an important government post, an ambassadorship. No, maybe it's secretary of state."

"The appointment comes through, but he gets himself involved with a woman, a white Russian. She stows away in his cabin on an ocean liner, and he spends most of the time trying to keep her hidden."

Lull But No Slowdown in V. Nam War

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
War, peace, politics and civil rights, often entwined, dominated the news of the world over the weekend.

A relative lull developed in the fighting in Viet Nam but there was no slowdown in the U.S. peace offensive. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Ambassador W. Averell Harriman talked with South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky in Saigon. Rusk then flew to Manila for talks with Philippine leaders before his return to the United States. Rusk and Ky said in a communique they saw no indications that North Viet Nam was ready to take concrete steps toward peace. Meanwhile, rumors of a possible coup against Ky heightened tension in Saigon.

Elsewhere, Japan and Italy pushed forward the peace drive, and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey disclosed that he and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin talked in New Delhi of "the whole scope of affairs in this troubled world."

Pope Paul VI also appealed anew for peace, praying for negotiations to end the war as he addressed a crowd in St. Peter's Square, Vatican City. But Communist party leader Leonid Brezhnev in a speech pledged "ever-growing assistance" to North Viet Nam. And North Viet Nam again claimed the U.S. quest for peace was a smoke screen for enlarging the war.

In Nigeria, mutinous elements of the army staged a coup and a military officer emerged as the temporary strongman. He is Maj. Gen. Aguiyi Ironsi. Ironsi announced the suspension of major provisions of the Nigerian constitution and called for the formation of an interim military government in the British Commonwealth country.

Previous reports said that the civilian government had regained control within 24 hours. The Nigerian prime minister, Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa, and his finance minister, Chief Festus Okotie Eboh, were still missing amid reports that they had been kidnapped by the military rebels.

Labor and politics got mixed in a war of words over the price of subway peace. While New Yorkers rode happily again after a 12-day transit strike, President Johnson said he felt the strike settlement price was too high. Republican Mayor John V. Lindsay defended the settlement and suggested that Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz knew the facts better than Johnson. Then Wirtz agreed with Johnson.

Civil rights and politics were another mixture, with a battle boiling over into the streets of Atlanta, Ga. Supporters of Julius Bond, a Negro denied his seat in the Georgia Legislature because of his anti-Viet Nam war stand, rallied at the state Capitol, led by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. About 50 demonstrators stormed state police.

Eight Republican Congress members also spoke out for seating Bond.

Vice President Humphrey said "the right to dissent is sacred" and no man should be body simply because he disagrees with the government's policies.

WIN AT BRIDGE

All Hands Went By Same Path

By JACOBY & SON

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Detective story addicts will remember the remarkable clue about the watchdog who failed to bark in the night a crime was being committed.

With the above as a starter, see if you can figure out what is remarkable about today's hand which was the nineteenth deal of the ninth round of the world championship trials.

The remarkable thing about this hand was that at all nine tables, South played three no-trump and made four. This was the first hand in the trials that produced identical results at all nine tables.

Most pairs reached the no-trump game on the bidding shown in the box but a couple got there more quickly when South responded two no-trump instead of two clubs.

Opening lead—♠ 5.

Spades were opened at every table and invariably South would attack hearts after winning the first spade.

East would take the second heart and lead a spade to his partner's ace.

At this point some players would be inclined to lead another spade and clear up the suit, but not one West player in the trials did this. Each one reasoned that there was no point setting up the spade suit with no possible way to bring it home, besides West would see that his queen of clubs would be a sitting duck for South.

West would lead a diamond. East would take his ace and the defenders would have made their three aces.

What do you do now?
A—Bid three no-trump. Your partner has shown the equivalent of an opening no-trump and you have nine good points plus two tens and two potential stoppers in spades.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding two no-trump, your partner bids two hearts over your one no-trump. What do you do now?

Blackmail, Threats And What To Do About Them

Dear Helen: I like a boy who is named John or so I'll call him. He is a real nice kid and I think he would like to go out with me. But this other fellow (who is a real pig with a terrible reputation) says if I don't date HIM, I'd better not go out at night because it won't be safe and if I date other boys, they will get it too! He means what he says because he went out with my girl friend and got her into trouble. What should I do? — Helpless

Dear Helpless: Whenever you are threatened, don't waste time writing to a columnist. Tell your parents, and fast! You may think this is something they shouldn't hear (it comes as strange notions when it comes to shielding their folks) but, believe me, they can prod this "pig" back to his piddle, with the help of the proper authorities. He won't dare hurt you or your friends if he knows he'll be the number one suspect. — H

Dear Helen: This boy steals and brags about it. He came to school yesterday with eight watches on his arm, under his long-sleeved shirt. He'd got them from stores. He says his mother knows about it but won't turn him in because she doesn't want him hauled down to the "Juvey." He says anyone that tells on him is a flunk. Nobody wants to be a flunk, and, besides, he weighs 190 pounds — he'd make hash out of us. — The Four Who Know.

Dear Helen: Maybe he's a thief. Maybe he's just got a nutty sense of humor. (He could have borrowed those watches to pull a good story.) Either way, he's stupider than the average guy, and his big mouth will probably make your "finking" unnecessary. But just in case, you'd better tell the principal what's up his sleeve. Where stealing is involved, it's your duty to give information — and your names won't be mentioned. — H.

First-Naming Makes Discipline Shaky

Dear Helen: I have several questions about calling adults by their first names.

1. One of my high school teachers is also a good friend of the family — in fact, he's going to marry my sister. So naturally, we all call him Cal. I have avoided calling him anything in class so far, but I'll have to sometime. Do I "Mister" my future brother-in-law?

2. I call my boyfriend's parents Mr. and Mrs. Smith, but my sister, who plays bridge with them, calls them John and Mary (not their real names.) Mrs. Smith told me yesterday to call her Mary, but my folks do not especially want my boy friend to call them by their first names. They say it's easier to tell him a definite curfew hour, etc., when they're on two levels.

3. When SHOULD a teenager start calling adults by their first names? — Puzzled

Dear Puzzled: 1. A teen should ALWAYS address a teacher (or anyone in authority) formally (Mr. Jones, Mrs. Smith, Miss Brown) — during working hours that is.

2. If Mrs. Smith wants you to call her "Mary," you've no other choice, but YOUR parents are wiser.

3. Play it safe and wait till usually prefer the first-name basis, but you'd better be more reserved with parents of YOUR are in charge, and a Mr. and Mrs. makes this more definite. — H.

Just Plain Cold Around the Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cold weather gripped most of the United States today, penetrating into Florida and the Deep South.

The temperature reached 6 below zero Monday in London, Ky. A 70-year-old woman and two grandchildren died in a fire in their rural home near Jackson in eastern Kentucky.

In western New York, hit by a weekend snow storm, two persons died. They brought to 12 the number of deaths in New York state attributed to heart attacks while clearing snow or pushing stalled cars.

Schools were closed in 16 Kentucky counties today because of the extreme cold. The early-morning low was 15 at Louisville.

The Arkansas State Police said all roads in the state were in very bad condition from snow and freezing rain.

Several public schools were closed today in Arkansas, including all in the Little Rock area.

A car hit a patch of ice near Magnolia in southwestern Arkansas Monday, flipped into a ditch and was upside down with only the tires above water when the two occupants were pulled to safety.

Snow, sleet and freezing rain covered a vast area of the South today. Sleet pelted Mississippi as far south as Jackson and Meridian.

Hazardous-driving warnings were in effect for Arkansas, western Tennessee, parts of Mississippi and Alabama.

Two inches of snow fell in Little Rock, Ark., Monday with one-inch falls in Wichita, Kan.; Tulsa, Okla.; and Pine Bluff and El Dorado, Ark.

Miami, Fla., had its coldest day of the winter Monday with a low of 49 and a high of 70.

The Northeast was smothered under up to two feet of snow from Sunday's storm.

The snow in Maryland ranged from 17 inches in Garrett County to 1 inch in Northeast, Md. Schools were closed in five Maryland counties Monday.

Election Boundaries Up to Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A lawsuit seeking to determine the legal boundaries for a special Congressional election will be tried Feb. 11, Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett said Monday.

The suit was filed by Travis N. Beeson of Camden, a Republican who is a candidate for election to the Arkansas House. Beeson wants to find out whether party primaries and a special general election should be held in the old 28-county 4th Congressional District, a 20-county area approved by a federal court which ordered redistricting, or statewide.

Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., will create the Congressional vacancy when he resigns the position Feb. 3 to be sworn in as a federal district judge.

Republicans have set a primary for March 1 using the 20-county area. Democrats are aiming at March 15, with the 28-county area to be used for their primary. Bennett said litigation could take the case to the U.S. Supreme Court. Beeson's suit was filed in Pulaski Chancery Court.

Congress to Start Work on Huge Budget

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP)—Twelve congressional committees started cranking up today for the long and arduous job of handling President Johnson's $112.8-billion budget.

Hearings on the many facets of the budget, presented to Congress Monday, will begin Wednesday when a House Defense Appropriations subcommittee will hear Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara explain the money needs of the military.

McNamara's testimony will be key to a presidential request for $12.76 billion in emergency funds, exclusive of the $57.1-billion defense budget for fiscal 1967.

The entire House Appropriations Committee will be given an over-all picture of budget and appropriation requirements next Monday, when the Budget Bureau and the Treasury Department present the case for the President.

The 12 subcommittees will settle down then to months of testimony on the 12 separate money bills which annually finance the government.

The usual cries of "too much" went up from Republicans Monday as Democrats commended the President for what they called a realistic approach to the government's fiscal problems in his budget.

"I have never seen a budget based on more tenuous revenue assumptions and with such little regard for the fiscal welfare of this nation," commented Rep. Frank T. Bow of Ohio, senior Republican on the House Appropriations Committee.

"Restraint is the dominant note," said Democrat George H. Mahon of Texas, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

Bow did not dispute Mahon's estimate that there would be little disagreement over about 90 per cent of the budget. The area of disagreement will be the funding of controversial new "Great Society" programs.

Exclusive of permanent appropriations for such things as interest on the national debt, the President wants Congress to make available about $106.3 billion in new funds this year.

Last year Congress appropriated $106 billion of the $110 billion requested by the President. It may trim a little deeper this congressional election year since economy always has been a popular record for campaign purposes.

Assessing the situation, reliable sources say that the government and the Viet Cong each control about one-quarter of the country. The other half is disputed territory.

The government foothold in these disputed areas usually amounts to scattered outposts that protect little more than their own barbed wire. It is the Viet Cong who usually are able to move into the villages at night to hammer home their propaganda. Government village chiefs and police often spend the night at the district town headquarters building behind barbed wire.

Although government troops sweep and resweep these contested areas, the Viet Cong quickly return when the Saigon soldiers go back to their barracks.

Government control is weakest in the northernmost 1st Army Corps area. In each province it is pretty much restricted to the capital plus varying-sized areas of surrounding countryside. U.S. Marines hold a beachhead at Chu Lai but no large population is involved. The other Marine bases are at Da Nang and just south of the old imperial capital of Hue.

Several district towns besides Hiep Duc and Minh Long have been abandoned in the past 18 months and in others government forces are hanging on by their teeth. There is some fear that Quang Ngai Province, controlled by the Viet Minh during the French war and with strong separatist tendencies as well, might turn from the Saigon government. If this happened, the Viet Cong might move in and use this as a governmental base camp. But the difficulties and dangers in attempting to pull off such a coup are immense for the Communists.

American and South Vietnamese hopes are pinned on expected conventional military showdowns with the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese that will brighten the present picture. At present, the showdowns continue largely to be when and where the Communists want them. Military sources say there is little prospect that the situation will change, given the nature of a guerrilla war.

ROME (AP)—Aldo Moro remains the most likely man to head Italy's new government and political sources say he may receive the nod from President Giuseppe Saragat by Tuesday. Saragat planned to complete consultations with political elders late today in his search for a formula to end the four-day-old crisis.

He was expected to ask Moro, who quit as premier last Friday, to head another center-left coalition dominated by Moro's Christian Democratic party and the Socialists.

Moro resigned last week after a number of Christian Democrats in the Chamber of Deputies defected in a secret vote and helped to defeat a government bill to set up government nursery schools.

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—Thirty persons have been found dead in the first crash of a Haitian commercial airliner in 22 years.

The DC3 crashed 25 minutes after taking off from Port au Prince Saturday for the southwest coast with 28 passengers and a crew of 7 aboard. Five persons survived.

SAARBRUECKEN, Germany (AP)—Justice authorities say they have exposed a German ring that has been smuggling Czechoslovak weapons to Congolese rebels.

A state court spokesman said the ring was uncovered with the arrest of Heinrich Loosen, 30-year-old gas station manager picked up at the French-German border with a carload of pistols.

He said the arms were part of a shipment of 1,000 pistols that was to be smuggled to the Kurds via France and Turkey. The spokesman said Loosen was fined $45,000 for violating customs laws. Four other Germans were also picked up but have been freed after questioning.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELECTION

Notice is hereby given that a special election will be held in Hempstead County, Arkansas on the 1st day of March, 1966, at which election there will be submitted to the electors the question of issuing Hempstead County, Arkansas General Obligation Industrial Development Bonds under the provisions of Amendment No. 49 to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas in an amount not to exceed $222,000 (called "Amendment No. 49 Bonds") for the purpose of furnishing permanent financing of the costs of securing and developing industry (called "bonds").

The bonds will be dated June 1, 1966, interest thereon will be payable semiannually on June 1 and December 1 of each year, commencing December 1, 1966, and the bonds will mature annually on June 1 in each of the years 1969 to 1986, inclusive, but will be subject to redemption prior to maturity upon such terms as shall be specified in the Order of the County Court authorizing their issuance. The particular industrial project will consist of lands, a manufacturing building, improvements and facilities for a plant to be owned by the County and leased to and operated by Missouri Research Laboratories, Inc., a Missouri corporation (called "Research Laboratories"). The bonds will be general obligations of the County to the payment of which the County will pledge its full faith, credit and taxing power, including particularly a one and one-half (1½) mill special continuing annual tax under the provisions of Amendment No. 49. However, as authorized by Amendment No. 49, appropriate provisions will be made in the Order of the County Court authorizing the issuance of the bonds for the suspension of the collection of said tax on an annual basis to the extent of available revenues (including particularly lease rentals under the Lease Agreement with Research Laboratories) derived from the operation of the industrial project. The bonds will be sold at public sale and may be sold with the privilege of conversion to an issue bearing a lower rate or rates of interest.

Only qualified electors of Hempstead County, Arkansas will have the right to vote and the electors may vote either for or against the bonds.

The election will be held between the hours of 8:00 o'clock a. m. and 6:30 o'clock p. m. at the following polling places in Hempstead County, Arkansas, to-wit:

Mrs. Taylor Speaker at DAR Meet

John Cain Chapter of Daughters of American Revolution met Wednesday, January 19, at the Heritage House.

A business meeting was held at 10:30 with lunch following. Hostesses were Mrs. Paul Klipsch, Mrs. John Keck, and Mrs. J. A. Wilson.

Delegates and alternates to State Convention, which will be held in Little Rock, in March, were elected as follows: Delegates — Mrs. J. J. Battle, Mrs. G. E. Tyler, Mrs. Catherine Howard, Mrs. Charles Lock, and Mrs. J. H. Waddle. Alternates — Mrs. Kelly Bryant, Mrs. Kate Dods, Mrs. John Keck, Mrs. J. G. Martindale, and Mrs. Arthur Wimmell.

Yearly reports were discussed and filled out. The chapter hopes to get honorable mention from national for this past year's work.

Mrs. Charles Taylor presented a very interesting program on "What Can I Do to Fight Communism?". She stated that we are faced with three alternatives: 1. Atomic annihilations, 2. Surrender, 3. Victory over communism without war. This is, of course, our goal. The requirements for victory are People, Knowledge, and Motivation. All three are of equal importance. If we have plus knowledge and minus motivation, we have Pessimism.

If we have people minus knowledge plus motivation, we have Fanaticism. So, we must have people plus knowledge plus motivation or victory, our ultimate goal.

She gave a list of specific battlegrounds which included: Political, Church, Education, Civic, and she also gave some questions regarding them.

It was further stated that, Freedom will only win if every American makes his decision now to accept his individual responsibility and take effective and positive action for its preservation.

J. Edgar Hoover says, "We can defeat communism and, at the same time, reinforce the structure of our own democracy by the combined process of exposure and education."

We must begin by learning about our enemy. Action without knowledge breeds confusion and chaos. Once this is realized, the education on the true nature of communism becomes the first logical step to victory.

Mrs. Taylor ended her talk by telling of the D. A. R. resolutions for 1966, which stresses patriotic education; extension of support and gratitude to law enforcement officers in their efforts to maintain law and order; strengthening of the immigration and nationality act; support the electoral college as a vital check and balance; warn against complete and general disarmament, lest the result be only a socialist one-world government. And, of course, presses for fight against communism.

All resolutions demand people plus knowledge plus motivation.

Garden P.A. Job Can Be Fun—Sometimes

By DAVE BURGIN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Friends tell John Condon they would rather meet the Green Bay Packers in a dark alley than have his job.

Condon himself admits that if there's a tougher job in sports he doesn't know what it is.

He is the public address announcer at Madison Square Garden, home of basketball's most unpredictable crowds.

"I've been doing it for 16 years and I love it," Condon said. "When I stop getting excited before every game, that's when I'll quit."

In those 16 years, Condon, who also does boxing publicity, has worked more than 1,100 basketball games.

He doesn't remember them all, of course. "But there are about 50 games I'll never forget," he said.

Like Bill Bradley's 41-point performance against Michigan in the 1964 Holiday Festival Tournament. "He did more things in one game than I've ever seen any man do. He left me speechless."

Or the 1954 National Basketball Association All-Star game when George Mikan made two free throws after the buzzer to send the game into overtime.

"Fantastic pressure," Condon said, "and he just calmly flipped them in."

There are moments less spectacular and more hazardous.

"In a Dayton game in the NIT one year, I announced a foul against a Dayton player and the next thing I knew I was picking myself off the floor."

A Dayton fan had come down from the stands and cracked Condon across the back of the head.

"I don't call the fouls," Condon told him groggily. "I just announce them."

"Oh!" the guy said. Somebody got mad at Condon in an NBA game once and fired a shot glass down from the second deck. Condon saw it whistle in and shatter on the floor in front of him, a sliver of glass creasing him above the eye.

Inevitably there are the fluffs. Things come out over the P.A. like "Roscar Obertson shooting two shot fouls."

"One night I had a particularly bad night with the fluffs. I was livid. A friend came up to me after the game, grinning, and I told him, 'If you say one word to me I'll punch you right in the nose.'"

"You have to be careful," Condon said. "You have to be totally accurate or you could start a riot. You can never embarrass a player. I try to put a little dignity into the job."

Once, after NBA referee Willie Smith had thumbed San Francisco coach Alex Hannum out of the game, Smith charged up to Condon and said, "Tell 'em Hannum has been thrown out."

Condon told the crowd: "Mr. Hannum has been relieved of his responsibilities for the remainder of the evening."

The toughest part of the job, Condon said, is trying to hold back his sense of humor. One night a drunk, who had been razzing Condon all evening, screamed during a lull, "Hey, Condon, when ya gonna shut yer big mouth?"

"When it gets as big as yours," Condon snapped over the P.A., bringing the crowd's cheer.

"The gamblers in the Garden are the ones I like to have fun with," he said. Sometimes he will announce an out-of-town score this way:

"At Boston . . . the Celtics 118 . . . Cincinnati 124."

Condon is a fixture for steady Garden fans. They like the job he does, and they like him.

Walter Brown, former owner of the Celtics, "paid me the biggest compliment I ever had. He asked me to take over for his regular P.A. man and do the All-Star game in Boston."

"But I had to turn him down," Condon said. "I don't think I'd like it if they brought a guy in for me."

Airborne Horseplayers Get to Track on Time

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Kennedy Airport . . . 10 a.m. . . The voice is loud, crisp and very familiar. "It is now post time," intones Fred Caposella, the nation's best-known track announcer.

From the assemblage comes a low moan. Then bolting off the waiting room seats faster than Kelso ever left a starting gate are the members of the New York chapter, Legion of the Lost.

Translated that means the New York horseplayer who has been inactive since Aqueduct closed in mid-December.

And inactivity to a horseplayer is unbearable.

"It means you might even have to work," moaned one gentleman.

National Airlines, sympathetic to the horseplayer's plight, and knowing that Aqueduct doesn't reopen until March, has solved the problem.

The airline has begun

"Daily Double" flights to Miami where Hialeah is just 15 minutes from the airport.

In addition to New York, there are similar flights each day leaving Philadelphia, Boston and Newark.

Caposella's voice actually announces the boarding of the flight in New York and Boston. But in Philadelphia and Newark an airport ordinance prohibits it.

On each flight, the stewardesses pass out copies of the various racing papers so their passengers will be fully informed when the plane lands in time for the travelers to see the first race.

There also is a mock daily double during the flight with the stewardesses spinning a wheel numbered 1 through 12. The winner is the honored guest at Hialeah for the day.

"A wonderful idea," said one pale horseplayer who was ready for the track in his red bermuda shorts, black turtle neck and Panama hat. "Let us get that plane up in the air posthaste."

"Very well-behaved passengers," chirped a smiling stewardess, "they get on, read that funny little paper and don't even look up to ask for a cup of coffee. They are very intense, aren't they?"

"About the only problem we have is on the flights back. Some of them act a little strange. Anyway, I think it's strange to want to open the back door when we're at 20,000 feet."

'Slow Cat' Heads Up AFL Champs

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
Sports Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

HOUSTON, Texas (NEA)

By the end of next year, says Joel Collier, he'll be 60. Right now, he's 33, which makes him the youngest coach in major professional football.

He's a quiet, bookish man who looks like a laboratory technician conducting research among the anthropoid species of the pros instead of the new head coach of the Buffalo Bills. Owner Ralph Wilson appointed him to lead the champions of the American Football League almost as soon as Lou Saban went off in quest of campus living at Maryland.

Despite his studious appearance—matted brown hair high on forehead, rimmed glasses, solemn demeanor and a slimmness that looks frail in the midst of 280-pound tackles—Joel came out of the tough cauldron of Big Ten football.

He and Dick Thomas were a team out of Rock Island, Ill., which went up to Evanston to play football for Northwestern. Joel was the receiver, Dick the passer, and Collier made All-Big 10 as end and captain of the Wildcats.

He was especially adept at catching hooks and slants and turn-ins and square-outs, all the intricate maneuvers that require finesse and deliberate practice. He was a Raymond Berry type who compensated for physical deficiencies with dedication.

In his own words, "I was a slow cat." Which, coming from Joel's lips, sounds a little like Everett Dirksen saying, "Cool it, baby."

"I couldn't run fast enough for the pros," says Collier, though the New York Giants drafted him "18th or 19th" for

Olderman

CHARM SCHOOL CADDIES—"The Japanese," says American professional Tommy Jacobs, "have the right idea." In Japan, women are the caddies. Jacobs says they are among the best caddies in the world. The girls, usually between the ages of 18 and 22, are schooled in golf etiquette at their courses and must know it well. The girls also are experts on clubbing, distances and greens-reading, although in Far Eastern countries women seldom play golf. "Maybe we should adopt this custom in the United States," Jacobs laughs. "Our caddies are good but not nearly as lovely."

the 1954 season. Joel was invited to the College All-Star game that year, but his buddy Thomas wasn't. Joel didn't go.

"I suppose I'm the only man who turned it down," he shrugs, "but I felt Dick and I had been together all through grade school, junior high, high school and college and his passing record was as good as anybody's in the country."

This establishes Collier as a loyalist.

Instead of a graduate course in football, he settled for two years in the army, then went to Western Illinois University as a graduate assistant while working for his master's degree in school administration (which he received). Lou Saban arrived on campus in 1958 as the head football coach and offered young Collier a job as an aide.

"Otherwise," admits Joel frankly, "I wouldn't be where I am today. I was going to go into high school coaching."

Collier went with Lou to the pros in 1960 as an assistant with the Boston Patriots and switched to Buffalo in 1962 when Saban moved into the Bills' head role.

The last four years he has handled the best defense in the AFL. Joel is the one who carries those voluminous registers with ciphers and symbols that form the complex gobbledygook of football. "I was going to put in an IBM system," he says, "to tabulate tendencies and formation breakdowns. It's taken me three days every week to do it all in longhand."

This thoroughness impressed owner Ralph Wilson. The players made it clear they wanted Collier, too. He won't excite the natives, either in personality or style.

He represents the new cult of coaches. George Allen, who might be taking over the Rams, is out of the same school, too. Detail men. No rah rah.

"I was a conservative defensive coach," nods Joel. "I didn't believe in blitzing because we were getting burned too much. And I don't anticipate changing my personality, either."

Long as he wins, it won't matter.

GOLF Around the World

TWILIGHT ZONE—It becomes a hard day's night when Scandinavians play golf. They often cram in as many as 45 holes a day during the golf season, which lasts only 20 weeks. The great northern twilight gives them a 20-hour golf day and it's nothing to finish in broad daylight at 10 p.m. Here, Marilyn Smith lines up a putt at the Oslo Golf Club. Norwegian courses are hilly and nearly always situated around lakes, which makes them picturesque but challenging for golfers. In winter, the Oslo course is turned into a skiing and sledding playground. The end of an Olympic-sized ski jump course is just beyond Miss Smith's admiring gallery.

Need Medicare?

BALTIMORE—(NEA)—Baltimore's Johnny Kerr, the Iron Man of the National Basketball Association, took a rebound off the defensive board, dribbled the length of the court and, as he went up for the shot, was hit solidly from behind. "I went down in a heap and stayed there," Kerr says.

Referee Mendy Rudolph, apparently startled and concerned by the way Kerr hit the floor, rushed over and anxiously inquired, "Are you O.K., Red?"

"I looked up at Mendy," Kerr said, "and told him I was fine. Then I told him at my age I've got to have at least a minute and a half to recuperate."

"Mendy looked down and said: 'O.K. John, take your time getting up.'"

Skiing with speed among the moguls can be as much fun as anything in skiing if the skier will make the terrain variables work for him.

A mogul is not, as the dictionary says, a great personage. In skiing parlance, it's a bump on a slope. The skier must resist the temptation to fight and struggle through the bumps.

Once he is doing good stem christies or parallel turns, the skier must make his turns against the cup-shaped uphill side of the moguls, banking high up on the faces of the opposing bumps, much as a bobsled banks high against the walls of the bobsled run.

On the top of a mogul there is only one point of friction, under the sole of the skis and boots. Therefore, it's easiest to make your turns then, and you can play the moguls to your advantage.

Except at very slow speeds, or as a ski school exercise, the skier must avoid sliding down the steep, downhill side of the mogul.

The Seals want to know why they were left off. The answer is simple. The sign was paid for by Frank Mieth.

Wisconsin Is Still Trying to Sue Braves

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — The answer to whether Wisconsin can pursue its antitrust suit against baseball and the Atlanta-bound Braves in state courts remained a closely guarded secret today.

Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller made his decision Monday, but didn't make it public. He said he would announce it later today.

Antitrust suits, representing the first major challenge in 44 years to baseball's traditional immunity from laws against monopolies, were filed last summer in both local and federal courts.

The suits, almost identical in wording, accused the National League of a conspiracy to deprive Milwaukee of baseball.

They asked that the Boston-born Braves, planning to open the 1966 season in Atlanta after a 13-year stopover here, be required to remain in Milwaukee unless the league granted the city a substitute franchise.

The federal suit was not affected by Roller's ruling.

The Braves, in asking Roller to cast the state suit out of his court, argued baseball was a national sport. They said antitrust jurisdiction belonged to Congress and the federal government rather than any one involved a legal injury to local citizens and was subject to settlement in local courts.

Attorneys for Wisconsin and Milwaukee County contended in reply that the Braves' departure state.

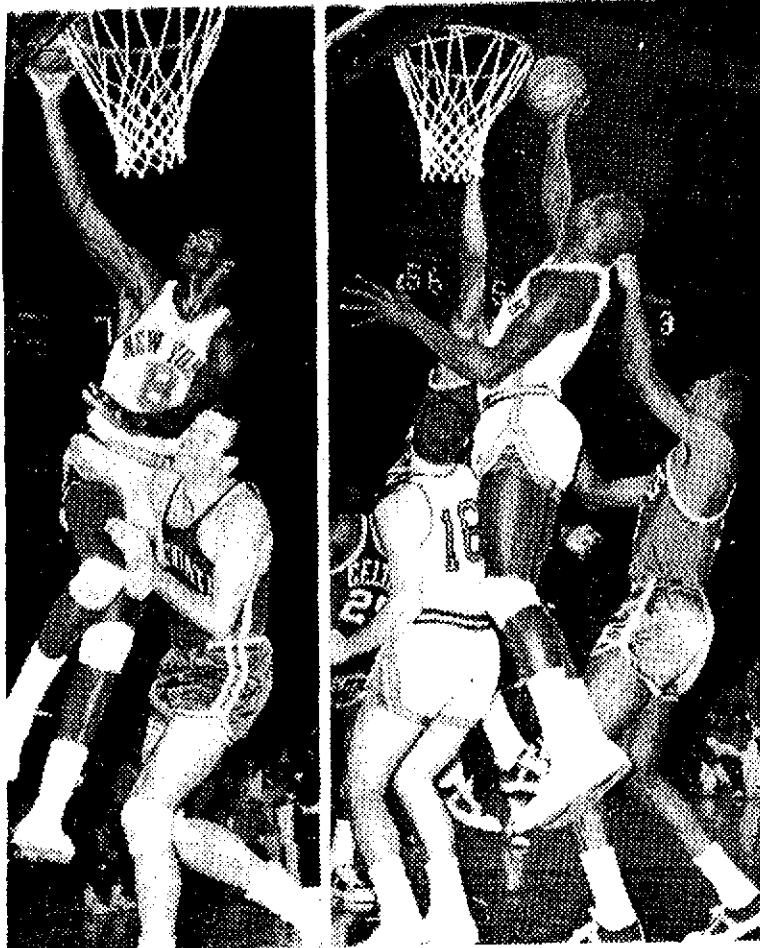

At stake today was only the issue of whether Roller's court, a county circuit court set up under state laws, could hear the suit. The question of whether baseball violates antitrust laws remained to be decided.

The other suit in U.S. District Court here has been allowed to lay largely dormant while Wisconsin officials have pushed the issue in the state's courts.

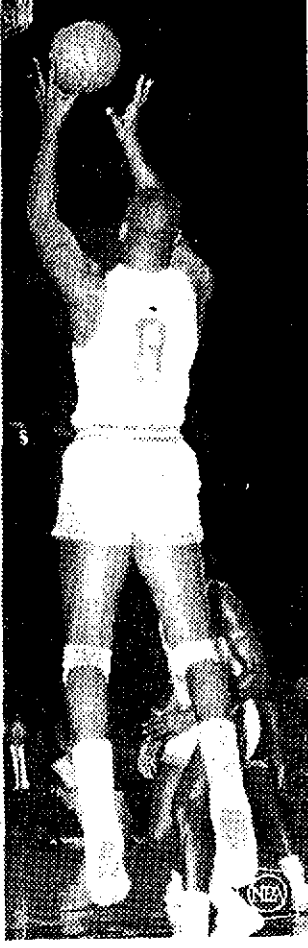

The Braves lost earlier when they attempted to have the state suit heard in federal courts also. The U.S. District Court sent the suit back to Roller's court last fall and left the issue of jurisdiction up to him.

The Braves had planned to open the 1965 season in Atlanta, but were barred by a local court order that forced them to honor their contract with the county to play all home games last season in the publicly owned stadium here. The contract and the court injunction expired Dec. 31.

The Braves had cited slumping attendance in what once was the league's Cinderella city of the turnstiles in deciding to look for greener pastures.

Mantle's Future Up to Operation

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — Mickey Mantle, baseball's greatest switch-hitter, was scheduled today to undergo surgery which would probably determine where the New York Yankee star ends his playing career — in the outfield or at first base.

For 15 years Mantle has patrolled the outfield as the Bronx Bombers won 12 American League pennants. He was switched from center field to left field last season. But even with the shorter throw from left field, baserunners were taking liberties when it appeared that Mantle had trouble throwing.

Mantle, 34, checked into Mayo Clinic on Jan. 17 for a series of examinations. Today's surgery was to remove a bone chip from his right shoulder — the apparent cause of the pain which hampered his throwing.

Mantle is expected to be hospitalized 10 to 14 days. A clinic spokesman said he would have to remain in Rochester for several weeks after that for physical therapy.

Mantle says the bone chip is rubbing against a tendon. "It's just like having something sharp rubbing on a piece of string," he said. He said it hurts when he has to lift his arm above his shoulder to put on a coat or shirt.

Mantle said he originally hurt the shoulder playing touch football with his children at their Dallas, Tex., home around Christmas 1964.

Yankee officials have said that Mantle might be moved to first base in 1966 to prolong his playing career. Mantle agrees that playing first base "would be easier."

The husky slugger has also had a series of painful leg injuries, which have cut down his speed.

Grant Ready to Talk of Contract

By LEW FERGUSON Associated Press Sports Writer ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Jim (Mudcat) Grant, looking all "show business" in his ermine-white fur coat and down-lined snow boots, breezed into Metropolitan Stadium Monday, but steered clear of Minnesota Twins President Calvin Griffith's office.

Within the next few weeks, Griffith's office is due to be the scene of Grant's verbal battle for a $29,000 baseball salary raise. He got $21,000 in 1965 when he won 21 games.

"I haven't reached the crossroads yet," Grant said of his impending salary struggle. "I haven't talked to the man (Griffith)." Grant says he must get a $50,000 contract to pitch for the American League champion Twins in 1966, or he'll remain in show business. He has toured this winter with his group, called "Mudcat and his Kitten," appearing at night clubs in this region and New York City, and next goes to Quebec.

"I don't have to pitch now or starve," Grant said. "If I'm not worth $50,000 now in baseball, I never will be."

A slight chuck in his contract-talking armor showed through, however, when Grant admitted that there is always the possibility of compromise.

"He'll have to convince me I should compromise," Grant said of Griffith. "Right now I say I've got to have $50,000 or I won't sign."

"If he can convince me that I'm not worth $50,000, then I'll sign, but it will take some tail talking."

Grant and Griffith squared off with verbal barbs at the Baseball Writers' dinner Monday night as each took a turn at the speaker's microphone.

"I just want to say, 'Mudcat I don't believe everything I read,'" Griffith said in reference to statements his pitcher has given the press.

Added Griffith: "You know what I think he's mad about? He didn't ask for more money last year."

When Grant got his turn, he jibed: "Seems to me some other people ought to be in show business besides me."

Boyer Signs Contract With Mets

By ED SCHUYLER JR. Associated Press Sports Writer Ken Boyer has been booted twice since last baseball season — once by the Cardinals and once by a horse.

The veteran third baseman, traded during the off-season by St. Louis, announced Monday while working out in a gym that he has signed his 1966 contract with the New York Mets, who have been kicked about quite a bit themselves.

Explaining a patch just below his left knee, Boyer said: "One of my horses kicked me some time ago. I had eight stitches, but it doesn't bother me. It won't hurt my playing."

The National League's Most Valuable Player in the Cardinals' world championship year of 1964, Boyer reportedly got in the neighborhood of $65,000, the figure he was said to have received from St. Louis.

"I was very pleased with the contract or I wouldn't have signed this soon," he said. "I'm really looking forward to this season. I'm in pretty good shape."

Boyer, 34, who had played for the Cardinals all 11 of his major league seasons, indicated at the time he was dealt to New York for infielder Charley Smith and pitcher Al Jackson that he was not pleased with the trade.

But Monday he said, "Now I'm really looking forward to spring training. We train in the same town as the Cardinals, St. Petersburg."

Bothered by a back injury, Boyer experienced possibly his worst season in 1965, hitting .260 with 13 home runs and 75 runs batted in.

Three other veterans, two—Bill Skowron of the Chicago White Sox and Minnesota's Camilo Pascual — who have known the thrill of World Series play, and one — Ron Santo of the Chicago Cubs — who has never been on a first division team, also signed contracts Monday.

Skowron, 35, who played first base in several World Series for the New York Yankees, hit .274 with 18 homers and 78 RBI for the Sox in 1965.

The right-handed Pascual, 34, said he signed for a "slight" won nine games and lost three for the Twins last season during which he was bothered by arm trouble and underwent surgery.

Santo, 25, batted .265 with 33 homers and 101 RBI in 1965. The third baseman will be playing his sixth season for the Cubs.

Howe Seems on Way to New Record

MONTREAL (AP) — Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings, the National Hockey League's career goal-scoring leader, appears well on his way today toward extending another record.

The 37-year-old right winger was named to the circuit's All-Star team for the first half of the 1965-66 season Monday along with left winger Bobby Hull, goalie Glenn Hall and defenseman Pierre Pilote of Chicago, defenseman Jacques Laperriere of Montreal and teammate Norm Ullman, a center.

Howe, in his 20th big league season, has been chosen for All-Star teams a record 16 times—eight times for the first team and eight for the second. He has a lifetime total of 614 goals.

Hull, leading the NHL with 38 goals, was the only unanimous choice in the voting by sports writers and sports casters in each of the league's six cities.

Ernie Banks Agree to Terms

CHICAGO (AP) — First baseman Ernie Banks has agreed to terms of a 1966 contract for his 14th season with the Chicago Cubs, it was announced today. Banks, reportedly in the $65,000 salary bracket, hit 28 homers, 25 doubles and drove in 106 runs last season. He accepted first baseman in the National League, 1,790, led in put outs with 1,682 and had a .992 fielding percentage.

Wildcats Roll to 13th Win Consecutively

By DICK COUCH Associated Press Sports Writer Either Adolph Rupp has sold his Kentucky Wildcats short or the Baron's needle has found its mark again.

The unbeaten, nationally second-ranked Wildcats rolled to their 13th victory Monday night, burying Louisiana State 111-85 under a deadly volley led by sophomore Thad Jaracz.

It was the second straight point spree in Southeastern Conference play for the Cats, who may be reacting to a well-aimed barb from their 64-year-old pilot.

"This team just does not have the killer instinct," Rupp complained two weeks ago after Kentucky squeezed past Georgia 69-65 in two overtimes after blowing a 13-point halftime lead.

The remark was enough to send the Wildcats on a second-half rampage that trampled powerful Vanderbilt 96-83 five days later. After staggering Vandy with 65 per cent shooting in the second half, they picked up the tempo in the first half of Monday's game against LSU at Lexington, Ky.

Kentucky hit on 73 per cent of its field goal attempts and stormed to a 66-43 halftime margin. The Wildcats wound up with a 58.4 field goal percentage with Jaracz connecting on 11 of his 15 shots.

While Rupp nailed his 733rd career victory, Chicago Loyola — only other member of The Associated Press' Top Ten in action — extended its winning string to 11 by trouncing visiting Marshall 92-68 behind the torrid shooting of Alan Miller.

Miller, a 6-foot-2 soph, shot 12 for 20 from the field, pacing the No. 7 Ramblers to their 13th victory in 14 starts. Jim Coleman, Loyola's leading scorer, was held to three points but Corky Bell supported Miller with 17.

Tennessee, one of the clubs given a chance of overhauling Kentucky in the SEC race, exploded for a school point record in routing the touring University of Mexico team 121-42. Ron Wilby dropped in 19 points and six teammates hit double figures as the Vols erased their old scoring mark of 114 points set 10 years ago against Furman.

The towering Vols outbounded the visitors 84-29 and limited them to 14 points in the second half.

Matthew Aitch scored 23 points and Stan Washington added 21 as Michigan State whipped Purdue 92-74 at East Lansing, Mich., and moved within one-half game of Big Ten Conference leader Michigan. Dave Schellhase, the nation's scoring leader, topped the losers with 25 points.

Iowa kept its Big Ten title hopes alive by checking Ohio State 98-89 at Iowa City. George Peoples and Gary Olson scored 25 points apiece for the Hawkeyes, who overcame Ohio State's 43-41 halftime edge. Bill Hosket paced the visitors with 28.

Elsewhere, Florida outlasted Auburn 68-64; Jacksonville edged Florida State 90-88; Colorado State University blasted New Mexico State 109-70 and Tennessee Tech topped Centenary 86-74.

Orange Bowl Hearing on Proposal

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Orange Bowl festival and the University of Miami have requested a public hearing on the proposed contract for use of the Orange Bowl stadium by the Miami Dolphins, the city's new American Football League team.

Miami Mayor Robert King High indicated Monday the hearing would be sometime before Feb. 2.

University President Henry King Stanford said he had been told informally that the proposed contract "accords more favorable treatment to the professional team than to the University of Miami."

Duke Remains Head of U.S. Cage Teams

By BEN OLAN Associated Press Sports Writer Duke and Kentucky, both idle last week because of mid-year examinations, continued at the head of the class in The Associated Press major-college basketball poll today. Failing grades affected the status of St. Joseph's of Pennsylvania, Kansas and Bradley.

St. Joseph's, upset by John's of New York 82-72, dropped two places to fifth. Kansas, sixth a week ago, fell to ninth after losing to Nebraska 83-75 while Bradley, seventh last week, slipped out of the rankings.

Cincinnati, which defeated the Peoria, Ill., Braves 85-69, replaced them in the Top Ten, advancing to the No. 8 position. The Bearcats were unranked a week ago.

Duke, 14-1, collected 28 first-place votes and 397 points in the latest voting by a special panel of 43 regional experts based on games through last Saturday.

Kentucky, unbeaten in 12 games, had 14 votes for the top spot and 390 points on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second etc. The Wildcats trailed Duke by only three points last week.

The TOP Ten, with won-loss records through games of Sat., Jan. 22, and total points:

1. Duke	14-1 397
2. Kentucky	12-0 390
3. Providence	12-1 311
4. Vanderbilt	12-2 293
5. St. Joseph's, Pa.	13-3 153
6. Texas Western	12-0 152
7. Chicago Loyola	12-1 125
8. Cincinnati	13-2 85
9. Kansas	14-3 66
10. UCLA	10-4 60

Man Doing Charging Was Referee

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS There was a charging incident in the St. Louis-Philadelphia National Basketball Association game, but no foul was called because the man doing the charging was referee Earl Strom.

Strom charged over the officials' table and grabbed St. Louis Business Manager Irv Cack as the final buzzer sounded in the game won by Philadelphia 110-107 at Memphis, Tenn. Wilt Chamberlain quickly separated the two men and no punches were thrown.

In the only other action, Cincinnati trounced San Francisco 135-112 at Muncie, Ind. The victory moved the Royals to within eight percentage points of idle Eastern Division-leading Boston. Philadelphia is 1½ games off the lead.

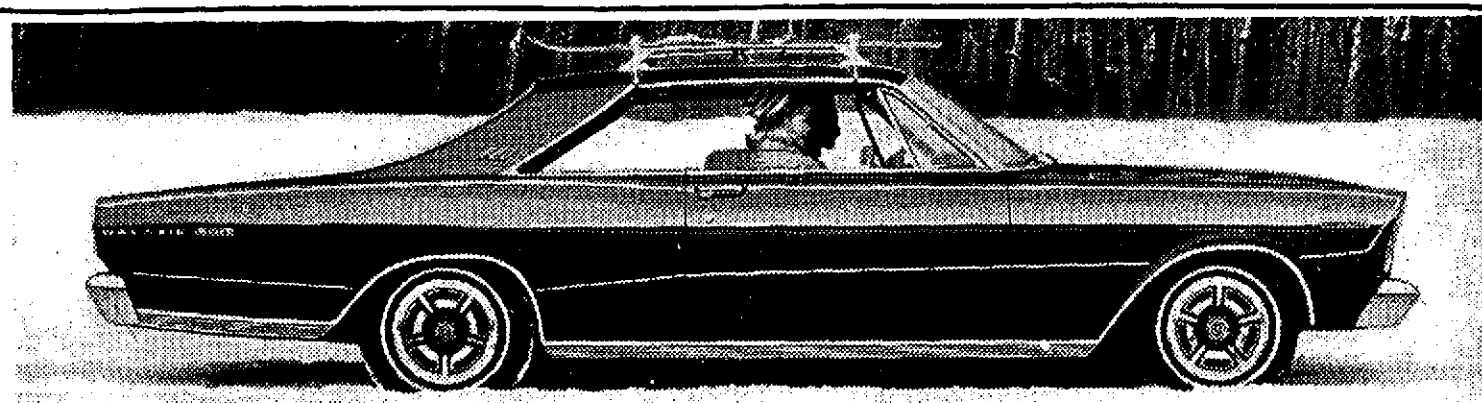

Strom became angered at something Gack said after the referee called Hawk player-coach Richie Guerin for palming the ball on a play in which Guerin stole the ball with seven seconds left and scored a lay-up.

Strom said Gack "picked up a chair and banged it on the floor and cursed like a mad man. I shouldn't have grabbed him. You get keyed up when refereeing a game."

Gack later said he told Strom as he was leaving, "You are really something."

Ernie Deane Reports on a Local Job

Ernie Deane, Lewisville native who quit the Arkansas Traveler column of the Arkansas Gazette to become publicity chief for the Bella Vista Village resort in northwest Arkansas, has sent me his first publicity release — and Ernie has come up with a report on the Ozarks establishment. Ernie writes as follows:

BELLA VISTA VILLAGE, ARK. — A rare pair of matched Palomino mules and a hand-crafted prairie schooner which they will pull are being added to facilities at Bella Vista Village for entertainment of Village residents and visitors.

The unusual team and the old-style wagon will furnish extraordinary transportation around the Village by day, according to Colonel Ed Pease, director of recreation. By night the canvas-topped prairie schooner will be utilized as a chuck wagon for cookouts in the scenic Ozarks countryside.

The mules were recently found after a statewide search. They were being used to "snake" logs from the great pine forests of Dallas County for a mill in Fordyce. Colonel Pease and James W. Hamilton, of the Bella Vista Village staff, went to Fordyce and bought the mules from Hugh Nutt. Nutt is a timber operator. Hamilton is a native of Virginia, a breeder of riding horses, also a horse show judge. He declared the Palomino mules to be rarities. In fact, Hamilton said that such a matched pair would not be found once in 10,000.

The mules are not yet 10 years old. Hamilton said that with good care, they might well work until their late 20's.

The Palominos soon will be transported to Bella Vista Village by trailer. Meanwhile, at Arkla Village, near Emmet, the wagon factory of Arkla Industries, Inc., will be building the 12-foot long prairie schooner. Completion is scheduled by mid-March.

Colonel Pease revealed plans to bring the wagon by "mule power" cross-country from Arkla Village to Bella Vista Village. The Palominos will pull it. Their natural colored leather harness is also being designed and fabricated at Arkla Village.

The journey from Southwest Arkansas to Northwest Arkansas is being planned for early April. Numerous overnight stops will be made en route so that the unusual team and wagon can be inspected by the public.

Phelps Gets Expression of Respect

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Writer

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP)—When Dr. Ralph A. Phelps Jr. opened his Christmas packages last Dec. 25, he found in one the jawbone of an ass.

It was a friend's expression of respect for the outspoken young president of Ouachita Baptist University, one of the South's leading Southern Baptist institutions.

There are those who say Phelps, president of OBU 13 years, is only a persistent publicity-seeker most often at odds with the people he serves.

He admits: "I don't have sense enough to keep my mouth shut."

And controversy swirls around him as the 10.4 million Southern Baptist, like it or not, listen to what he says and wonder — sometimes with a shudder — what he'll say and do next.

The controversies haven't slowed him down.

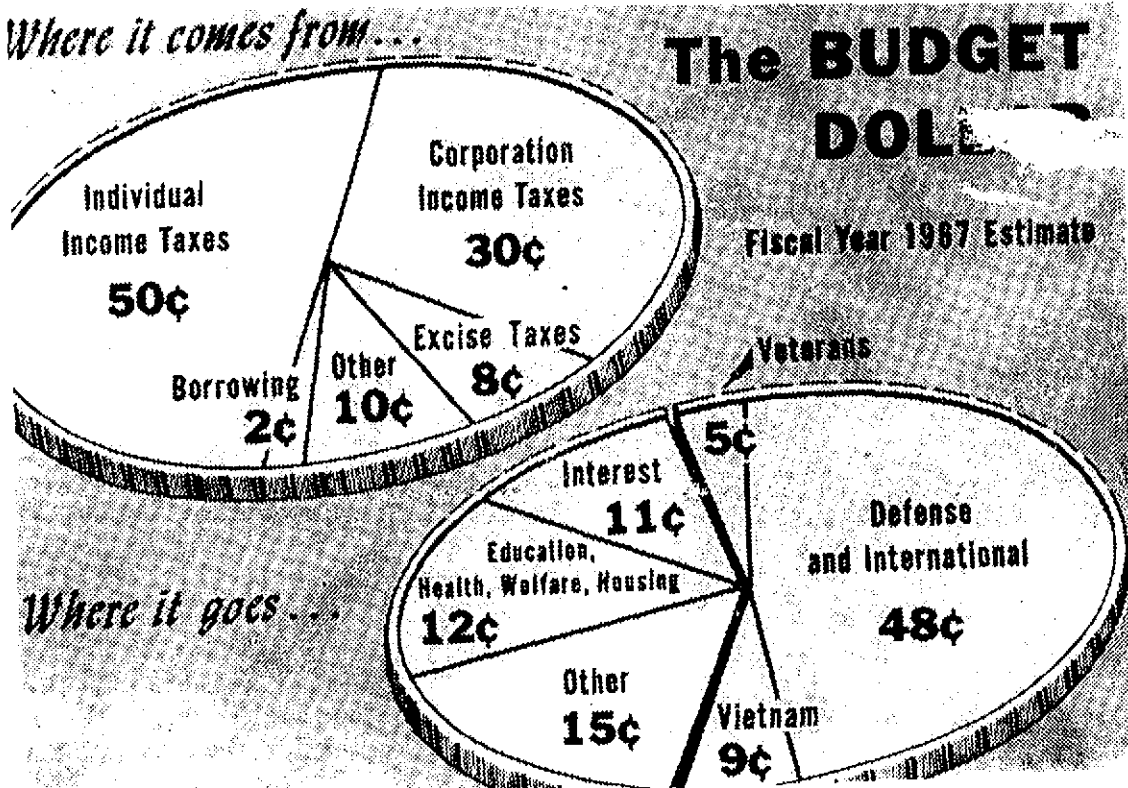

In 1961, OBU became the first private school in the state to admit Negroes and segregationists burned crosses on Phelps' lawn.

In 1964, after more than 40 other Baptist leaders in Arkansas had publicly turned down the task, Phelps, despite threats on his life, led the successful fight against illegal casino gambling at Hot Springs.

In 1965, Phelps angered many of his fellow churchmen by favoring federal aid for Southern Baptist institutions, although the state convention — and those elsewhere — refused it.

CIVILIAN CASUALTY—A Vietnamese villager, wounded during U.S. Marines' "Operation Mallard" against Viet Cong 16 miles south of Da Nang, is helped onto a stretcher for evacuation to a rear medical center. U.S. officials said the sweep netted 34 guerrillas killed, 29 captured and over 200 suspects.

Thinks Brisk Walk Can Calm a Person Down as Well as Taking Those Tranquilizers

By HAI BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

In this age of anxiety one out of 12 Americans takes tranquilizers. We also spend about $70 million a year on sleeping pills.

But many doctors think you can calm down just as well — and save money — by just going for a brisk three to five-mile walk.

Before the rise of dentistry, people often went to blacksmiths to get their teeth pulled or treated.

A five-foot electric eel has all its vital organs in the first foot of body length. The other four feet contain nearly 6,000 electrical cells, each of which can generate one-tenth of a volt.

Jesus Christ and his followers spoke and wrote in Aramaic, the language of a nomadic desert people. Ultimately this tongue was displaced by Arabic in biblical lands.

Quotable notables: "Perhaps man, having remade his environment, will turn around at last and begin to remake himself." — Will Durant.

"If you have an ulcer, better cut down on those highballs. It has been found that ulcers heal more quickly among those who don't drink."

In bullfighting if you don't die young you can die rich. One of the most unorthodox performers today, Manuel Benitez, known as "El Cordobes" and "the Beatinik Bullfighter," earns an estimated $2 million a year.

The burden of the presidency takes an increasing toll. The U.S. presidents who served in this century averaged 11 years, less than their normal life expectancy for the age at which they took office.

A kind of Roman lottery was the forerunner of our St. Valentine's day. Celebrated on Feb. 15, it was called the Feast of Lupercalia. A young Roman man drew blindly from a container the name of an unmarried girl. They became sweethearts for the year, and exchanged gifts.

One out of every six licensed drivers is involved in an accident each year. The chances are, if you drive regularly, you will have some 10 traffic mishaps during your career behind the wheel.

Worth remembering: "You wouldn't worry what people think about you if you knew how seldom they do."

Will Welcome Suggestions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Howard Howe II, U.S. commissioner of education, has told all chief state school officers he would welcome any suggestions they have on federal guidelines for school desegregation.

The Office of Education is working on revised guidelines which will be based on experience since the first ones were issued last April.

For months officials have expressed disappointment with the lack of progress made in many communities where "freedom of choice" desegregation plans were approved.

They have also criticized slow progress toward desegregation of school facilities.

The reorganization is being made to provide the most effective organizational structure for administering the federal meat inspection service, the Agriculture Department said.

Would Forbid Poll Taxes in All States

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP)—The federal government asks the Supreme Court today to outlaw poll taxes as a requirement for voting in state and local elections.

"The principle of a tax on the right to vote is constitutionally indefensible," the government said in a brief filed with the court before a hearing on the Virginia poll tax.

Five Virginia Negroes are asking the justices to reverse a lower court and strike down the Virginia poll tax as a form of discrimination against poor people.

On this ground alone, the government said, the Virginia poll tax should be declared invalid. However, the government said, a more fundamental issue is at stake.

"Whether any tax levied on voting, and carrying the sanction of disenfranchisement for nonpayment, is constitutionally permissible. We urge that it is not."

"This basic vice of the poll tax system cannot be cured — as could, perhaps, a law that merely discriminated against poor persons — by exempting indigents from the burden of the law."

Blanchard Spgs. Cash $550,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's budget recommended a $550,000 appropriation to build visitor facilities at Blanchard Springs Caverns Park near Mountain Home, Ark. Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., said Monday.

Congress voted funds last year to start work at the caverns, a spectacular series of underground caves and chambers. The initial appropriation was for construction of an elevator shaft.

Mills also said that the President has recommended $50,000 for a water garden at Greer's Ferry Dam.

Said She Saw Fatal Shooting

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A liquor store clerk testified here Monday that she saw Luther White, 30, of Little Rock fatally shoot a man who walked in the store during an alleged holdup.

Mrs. Ann Rogers is a witness in the trial of White, a Negro. He is charged with murder during the commission of a crime.

The state is asking the death penalty. For conviction, the law requires proof that the defendant was committing a felony as well as proof that he committed the murder.

Carl McJunkin, 25, a white man, was the victim.

Mrs. Rogers testified that White had taken the store's currency and ordered her to fill a paper sack with silver when McJunkin walked in.

The state rested its case before the trial was recessed Monday.

Air Crash Kills 46 Americans in Viet Nam

By THOMAS A. REEDY

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A U.S. Air Force troop transport carrying 46 Americans and a cargo of mortar shells crashed in dense fog and rain today in the central highlands just after taking off from An Khe. All aboard were killed.

The twin-engine C123 Fairchild Provider slammed into a hillside five miles east of An Khe and the impact exploded the mortar shells. The plane carried a crew of four from the 315th Air Commando Group and 42 soldiers of the 7th Cavalry Regiment.

U.S. officials said it was the worst American air crash in the Vietnam war.

A search party reached the scene at noon in heavy rain. The cloud ceiling was 300 feet when the plane took off.

The cause of the crash was not immediately known.

An Khe is the staging area for the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile Division, which has been fighting the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regulars in the highlands. It lies 250 miles northeast of Saigon in mountains where Communist snipers occasionally shoot at American planes.

The C123 is a lumbering aircraft with a cruising speed of 190 miles an hour.

The worst air disaster of the Vietnam war involved a U.S. Air Force C123 which crashed into a peak south of Nha Trang last Dec. 11, killing 81 Vietnamese soldiers and the four American crewmen.

The highest American toll in a plane crash indirectly connected with the war occurred last Aug. 24 when a U.S. Marine Corps C130 transport carrying 63 Marines and two sailors back to the front from a brief leave crashed into Hong Kong harbor. Fifty-eight perished.

The unit killed in the crash today was en route to join one of a number of general offensives launched by the Americans.

Australians, South Koreans, New Zealanders and South Vietnamese soon after the lunar New Year truce ended Sunday.

The probes so far have made almost no contact with the insurgents, and a government spokesman said the Allied forces have "completely lost" the North Vietnamese regiments known to have been in the country since before Christmas.

Cutback in Loans to U. S. Colleges

WASHINGTON (AP)—The budget President Johnson sent to Congress Monday proposed a cutback of $11.95 million for the next fiscal year in federal funds for land grant colleges.

The University of Arkansas is one of these.

The Welfare Department said the reduction is being proposed because land grant colleges are now eligible for other forms of federal assistance under last year's education legislation.

Appel told the Pulaski County Health and Welfare Council Monday that volunteer workers have helped to create an atmosphere conducive to good medical practice.

Fulbright Asks Cong Be in on Peace Talks

By STEPHEN M. AUG

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J. W. Fulbright's suggestion that the Viet Cong be recognized as a major party to any negotiations to end the war in Viet Nam drew mixed reaction today on Capitol Hill.

The Arkansas Democrat, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said Monday that the war is between the Viet Cong guerrillas, supported by North Viet Nam, and the United States and South Viet Nam.

"It would seem to me a proper party to the negotiations would be the Viet Cong," Fulbright told newsmen.

He said that "the policy of not recognizing the Viet Cong as a major party to any negotiations may be a stumbling block to the peace offensive."

Fulbright made his remarks after Secretary of State Dean Rusk explained the administration's position at a three-hour closed committee session.

Questioned by newsmen, Fulbright said he had mentioned his suggestions to Rusk, but the secretary "doesn't agree."

A Republican member of Fulbright's committee, Sen. Clifford P. Case of New Jersey, said he didn't believe that recognition of the Viet Cong was a major factor.

Case told a reporter, "I assume from what the President said that our position is flexible enough to make it not a major factor in the discussions or affecting the possibility of negotiations and that it is one of those things that is not wrong to leave to the judgment of the people in the executive branch."

Case referred to President Johnson's State of the Union address nearly two weeks ago. The President said the United States is ready to discuss and consider "the views of any group." The reference was broad enough to include the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong guerrillas. Johnson had said previously this issue could be resolved.

Marshal Says He Was Hit by Farmer

LAKE VILLAGE, Ark. (AP)

—A U.S. deputy marshal said James Weir of Dermott struck an attorney Monday during a mortgage foreclosure sale of Weir's former 994-acre farm.

The deputy marshal, Bob E. Powell, said Weir struck William Drew of Lake Village after Drew outbid Weir in the farm sale.

He said Deputy Marshal Herschel Garner of Little Rock held Weir after the indictment until the sale, which Powell conducted, was completed. Drew bid $25,000, acting for four Louisiana men who had been declared owners of the Chicot County farm.

Some cities in southwest Arkansas got freezing rain Monday night, compounding the road problems.

Just over a weekend storm that left up to four inches of snow in Arkansas, Monday's storm moved in quietly. And more snow is in store for south Arkansas tonight and early Wednesday, the Weather Bureau said.

Cecil J. Hazeslip, 43, of North Little Rock, died when a car ran into the rear of a truck during the snow storm.

State Trooper Cecil Brakebill said Hazeslip was in a car driven by J. C. Castleberry, 41, of North Little Rock, when the car hit a Highway Department truck. The accident was at North Little Rock.

Near Magnolia, a 37-year-old Emerson woman and her 3-year-old son were rescued by two men after her car slipped upside down into the icy waters of a drainage ditch.

Friend said the car tumbled into the ditch after it hit a patch of ice on U.S. 82.

Twenty-seven minor auto accidents were reported in Little Rock between 3 p.m. and 6 p.m.

Schools Closed by Snow All Over Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Schools remained closed throughout Arkansas today on the heels of the state's second major snowfall of the winter.

Four inches of snow were recorded at Pine Bluff, three at Little Rock and more than an inch was reported at numerous other cities and towns around the state.

School officials decided to call off classes today because of transportation difficulties created by snow and ice.

State Police and Weather Bureau reports warned motorists to drive cautiously when on icy, snow-clogged streets and highways.

No highways were closed, but a spokesman for the State Police said all roads in the state were dangerous slick.

The snow started Monday morning when a mass of warm, moist air from Mexico collided with chilling Arctic winds just west of Arkansas.

The cold wind turned the moisture to snow as the mass moved into Arkansas. Snow began falling at Fayetteville, Fort Smith, De Queen, Texarkana and other western Arkansas points and spread toward the Mississippi River.

With it came hazardous driving conditions.

Although no highways were closed to traffic by authorities, some hilly, winding city streets were barricaded by officials in several cities and towns.

One person was killed in a traffic accident that occurred during the snowstorm.

Little Rock motorists, homeward bound Monday and headed for the office today, found streets packed with snow and ice. Tires encased in snow-grip chains churned through the cold slush.

At 7 a.m., the Weather Bureau reported very light snow in the southeastern part of the state.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chilled by Arctic winds, a mass of moist air started spilling snowflakes on western Arkansas Monday. The snow continued and spread over the state, and it was still falling in many cities early today.

State Police said all roads in the state were in very bad shape.

School officials in several parts of the state waited until late in the night, then announced that pupils would have a holiday. All public schools in Pulaski County called off Tuesday classes.

At Little Rock, where more than 2 inches of snow fell, motorists reported many streets were filled with packed snow. Temperatures in the 20s put a dangerous glaze atop the snow before workers started to their jobs today.

Some cities in southwest Arkansas got freezing rain Monday night, compounding the road problems.
